MAHER AND SHARKEY.
They Are to Fight Again and to a Finish.

New York, June 24.—Peter Maher and Tom Sharkey are to fight again and this time the mill will be a finish. This was decided upon tonight by the representatives of the fighters, Dan Lynch and Buck Connolly. They went to Jersey City and signed articles of agreement. Connolly has covered the $2,500 forfeit which Sharkey gave to Al Smith the day after he won his sweeping challenge.

According to the articles the men agree to have it out to a finish, with gloves of the regulation size, under Marquis of Queensbury rules, for $5,000 a side. The time has been fixed for November 1, or within ninety days after posting the second or final deposit, which is to be in kind, but not later than August 2. It is understood he is to be final stakeholder. On the final deposit a referee is to be named. The winner will receive all the purse and side stakes.

Luskey Playing Good Ball.
Charles M. Luskey, the young District ball player who was hit by a pitched ball some weeks ago in Knoxville, Tenn., has thoroughly recovered, and is again in the harness. He writes a friend in this city that he is now at Washington, N. C., and is hitting harder than ever. The other day he was presented with a pair of new shoes, two fancy dress shirts, a necktie and a fine suit of underwear for winning a game of ball. With the losses he had made a three-base hit in the sixth inning. In the ninth he made the winning run on his hit and went on to pitch a day down the river can select no more enjoyable occasion than this will be. A program of the first order has been planned for the members and friends of the club. A pleasant day is guaranteed to all who want the party; a cool day in the shade and cool breezes of Marshall Hall being the most comfortable way of passing a day possible to find. The River Queen will carry the excursion and leaves her wharf at 9:30 a. m. and 5:30 p. m.

Capt. Brown and Capt. Joyce, two veterans of the diamond, consulted yesterday afternoon at National Park and concluded that it would be best for old joints, weak arms and Charley horses not to play on wet grounds and in the damp air. Broader it was a wise consideration from their standpoint, because it would scarcely pay either team to run any risk in playing in the rain. The veterans on the New Yorks need all the warm weather they can get, and the youngsters on the Senators also need the sunshine for their benefit. Unlike the players, however, they are told that if they began the game in the rain they would have to finish it. But they did not guess the weather a bit, as it turned out to be a fine day.

As a result of the agreement there will be two games this afternoon, the first of which will be called at 2:30 p. m. and the second soon after the completion of the first. These will be royal battles. The Giants will struggle to increase their present percentage, while the Senators will endeavor to get closer to the Quakers, who this morning are only 27 points away as they are playing a superior club. Joyce will work Rusie and Meekin this afternoon and King and McJames will twirl for the home team. The playing of two games will draw a large crowd, and Joyce will then know just how the public is rooting for the Senators.

Had the game been played yesterday Wright would have cornered the star field, as DeMontreville is suffering with a sore ankle. It is not known whether he will be able to play today, but the chances are that he will be sufficiently healed and strong to do himself proud in his usual position. Both King and McJames are in it sharp, and as the Senators are battling like fields the appearance of Rusie and Meekin does not cause any one.

The day's rest will be of much benefit to Tucker, and he no doubt doubts the injured hand, and by this time has it in fair condition. Sehnach's ankle is not the best, but he is a hard worker, and will be benefited by the lay-off.

The appearance yesterday of Tom Brown and Bill Joyce in similar positions on the ball teams was of more than ordinary interest. They both played under Schmidt. Joyce was really forced off at three, and as the Senators were between him and Gus Schmeider, he was traded to New York, and at once became one of the most prominent managers-captains in the League; and today he quite a figure among the bright lights on the diamond. Joyce went a year ago to the Giants.

Yesterday he grasped a hand of Tom Brown, the successor of Gus Schmeider, a large degree, and what he said to him the genuine rooters can imagine. The two men confabbed, and each have won distinction without the aid of a man playing manager. Joyce has a year's rest, and as the latter comes to terms to get good work out of him, he will be one of these days be a big star among the high men in the game.
